Cattlemen,

Bowman Ranch invites you to our 2025 production sale, February 13th, at the ranch 1 mile south of Rhome, ND. We are extremely excited about this year's offering and feel that the quality runs deep. The 47 bulls selling are selected from the top 50 % of their calf crop. The bulls are thick, deep sided, and have as good of feet and disposition as you'll find.

Although the drought we experienced in 2024 created some challenges, it is certainly an exciting time to be in the cattle business. We saw record high prices for feeders in the fall and have seen many feeder calves bring over $2000/head this winter. I am optimistic that the rain is going to come and that high prices are going to stick around for several more years making it a great time to invest in the future of your operation.

We want to thank all of our past customers for your support of our operation and look forward to welcoming new ones. We know that there are many places to source your angus genetics. We sincerely appreciate you considering us. We value the relationships we have developed with each of you. We would love to show you the bulls prior to sale day and would encourage you to do so. We look forward to visiting with each of you.

Please join us for lunch beginning at 11:30 am on sale day Thursday, February 13, 2025.

Sincerely,

Eric & Andrea Bowman and Family

All bulls selling are free of any known genetic defects and have tested negative for BVD.

BULL DEVELOPMENT: Bulls are developed on a high roughage ration right here on the ranch. What our data tells you...

Expected Progeny Difference (EPD), is the prediction of how future progeny of each animal are expected to perform relative to the progeny of other animals listed in the database. EPDs are expressed in units of measure for the trait, plus or minus.

PRODUCTION EPDS

CALVING EASE DIRECT (CED), is expressed as a difference in percentage of unassisted births, with a higher value indicating greater calving ease in first-calf heifers. It predicts the average difference in ease with which a sire's calves will be born when he is bred to first-calf heifers.

BIRTH WEIGHT EPD (BW), expressed in pounds, is a predictor of a sire's ability to transmit birth weight to his progeny compared to that of other sires.

WEANING WEIGHT EPD (WW), expressed in pounds, is a predictor of a sire's ability to transmit weaning growth to his progeny compared to that of other sires.

YEARLING WEIGHT EPD (YW), expressed in pounds, is a predictor of a sire's ability to transmit yearling growth to his progeny compared to that of other sires.

SCROTAL CIRCUMFERENCE EPD (SC), expressed in centimeters, is a predictor of the difference in transmitting ability for scrotal size compared to that of other sires.

MATERNAL EPDS

MATERNAL MILK EPD (MILK), is a predictor of a sire's genetic merit for milk and mothering ability as expressed in his daughters compared to daughters of other sires. In other words, it is that part of a calf's weaning weight attributed to milk and mothering ability.

MANAGEMENT EPDS

DOCILITY (DOC), is expressed as a difference in yearling cattle temperament, with a higher value indicating more favorable docility. It predicts the average difference of progeny from a sire in comparison with another sire's calves. In herds where temperament problems are not an issue, this expected difference would not be realized.

CLAW SET EPD (CLAW), is expressed in units of claw-set score, with a lower EPD being more favorable indicating a sire will produce progeny with more ideal claw set. The ideal claw set is toes that are symmetrical, even and appropriately spaced.

FOOT ANGLE EPD (ANGLE), is expressed in units of foot-angle score, with a lower EPD being more favorable indicating a sire will produce progeny with more ideal foot angle. The ideal is a 45-degree angle at the pastern joint with appropriate toe length and heel depth.

$VALUE INDEXES

$Value indexes, an economic selection index allows multiple change in several different traits at once pertaining to a specific breeding objective. The $Value is an estimate of how future progeny of each sire are expected to perform, on average, compared to progeny of other sires if the sires were randomly mated to cows and if calves were exposed to the same environment. Maternal Weaned

CALF VALUE ($M), an index, expressed in dollars per head, predicts profitability differences from conception to weaning with the underlying breeding objective assuming that individuals retain their own replacement females within herd and sell the rest of the cull female and all male progeny as feeder calves. The model assumes commercial producers will replace 25% of their breeding females in the first generation and 20% of their breeding females in each subsequent generation. Traits included are as follows: calving ease direct, calving ease maternal, weaning weight, milk, heifer pregnancy, docility, mature cow weight, claw set and foot angle.

WEANED CALF VALUE ($W), an index, expressed in dollars per head, to predict profitability differences in progeny due to genetics from birth to weaning. The underlying objective being producers will retain 20% of the female progeny as replacements and sell the rest of the cull females and their male counterparts as feeder calves. Traits included are as follows (in no particular order): birth weight, weaning weight, milk, and mature cow weight.

BEEF VALUE ($B), a terminal index, expressed in dollars per carcass, to predict profitability differences in progeny due to genetics for postweaning and carcass traits. This terminal index assumes commercial producers wean all male and female progeny, retain ownership of these animals through the feedlot phase and market these animals on a carcass grid. Traits included in the index are as follows: yearling weight, dry-matter intake, marbling, carcass weight, ribeye area and fat. Source: AAA

MARBLING EPD (MARB), expressed as a fraction of the difference in USDA marbling score of a sire's progeny compared to progeny of other sires.

RIBEYE AREA EPD (REA), expressed in square inches, is a predictor of the difference in ribeye area of a sire's progeny compared to progeny of other sires.

BR Our Program...

Bowman Ranch continues to focus on the mother cow. Making it through tough conditions makes a quality mother cow possessing all the convenience traits, more important than ever. We don't have time to deal with bad dispositions, poor udders, or tough doing cows. We are a family operation and provide all the day-to-day labor. We demand that each cow earns her keep. They have to maintain a sensible frame score, be structurally sound, easy to handle, and have an acceptable udder, while weaning a heavy calf and breeding back on time each year. Cows aren't given a second chance and have to perform every year. Our registered herd is treated exactly the same as our commercial herd. They survive and thrive on limited resources on a 100% forage diet. We strive to graze our cowherd 8.5-9 months of the year and will go 10 months if the forage is there, and the winter allows it. We then supplement home grown hay and a dry mineral supplement. We do not creep feed any of our registered calves as we feel we can't properly evaluate our cow herd if creep is provided. These bulls have to do it on mother's milk and what Mother Nature provides on SW North Dakota grass.

All animals selling were born and raised right here on the ranch. Every registered calf is weighed on a digital scale within 24 hours of birth. In April, they get their first round of vaccinations followed by another round at preconditioning in September and boosters at weaning in October. Weaning weights were taken August 31st which we used to calculate adjusted 205-day weights. This is done so we can ratio the bulls with the ones that get banded at that time. Actual weaning weights were taken on the bulls when they were weaned on September 26th.

After weaning bulls are placed in the feedlot here on the ranch. Bulls are fed a high roughage ration consisting of chopped grass, alfalfa, and barley hay, corn silage, rolled corn, distillers grain, and a vitamin/mineral supplement. I personally feed and evaluate them each and every day. We target around 3 pounds of daily gain leading up to the sale. Bulls are then backed down to begin to harden up to ensure a bull that is ready to go to work breeding cows.
